Dear West Sussex County Council,

Having already objected in the first round of objections, I would now like to add further objections in the light of the new submissions.

I live in the village of Loxwood and therefore within the specified area, however I take strong objection to the applicant's assertion that only locals should object to the Clay Pits planned development. As a family we are regularly joined by friends and relations who exercise in and enjoy the woodland. For example, my mother who resides in Godalming is a weekly user of Pallingshurst Woods. She should be able to object to a proposal which will have a significant impact on her health and wellbeing, as well as affect her ability to look after and exercise my children who reside in Loxwood.

In my original objections, I highlighted the proven fact that there is currently no need for further clay in the area, and supported this by the closure of brickworks locally. I observe that there has been no new evidence submitted to support the applicant's assertion that more clay is needed. I refute this claim.

I would urge the applicant to comply with policy and take notice of the objections by all objectors, regardless of their home address.

Yours faithfully

Sophie Nataraj
