Sirs

I am astounded that this application is still being considered.

As a local resident (RH130QZI cannot believe that anyone would consider destroying this beautiful countryside with such a threat from environmental pollution.

Access through Loxwood Road is just not practical for HGV lorries. It is a country road, if residents park in the road (as some do) passing is limited and sometimes unsafe even for private vehicles. The narrow road makes visibility around the Mucky Duck area of particular concern. And what about the extra pollution? The A281, where we reside, is already hazardous and does not need any extra HGV traffic.
