Comments	There is absolutely no need for this plan, the evidence put forward for it's necessity is very weak and full of holes. The reality is all these HGVs would cause huge congestion in the town, present a high level of danger going down narrow roads that were not designed for the traffic they already hold, even without plans like this. The HGVs would also cause significant damage to an already crumbling road network which is in urgent need of quality repair (not just cowpatting potholes, this is a short term view and a waste of money when the job needs doing properly). Use the railway to carry this material, or better still, abandon this crazy plan!
