I am not sure if this is the correct way to comment or not but here goes.

I have lived in the sunny side area of East Grinstead for many years, lovely place to live bring up children and enjoy life.

As with any area it's got busier but that's life.

I do not think that the proposed opening up of this land fill site will add anything to a residential area. The roads are not built, maintained to support the type and quantity of traffic that is expected.

Residential roads will be used as cut throughs making it all very congested and unpleasant for all who live around the area.

Not to mention safety and health of the children, animals.

Please do consider what you will be allowing to happen if this goes ahead.

Many thanks
