Comments	I am against such developments going ahead, firstly on health reasons because the fallout from such a tall and large plant is going to travel for miles including where I live being as the prevailing wind is normally SW / W. I am an astham sufferer I really do not want anything else around that is likely to irritate my breathing problems. My second reason, is on the aesthetic aspect, something of this size is going to be a sure blot on the landscape and visible from miles around. The area is not heavy with large industry therefore this is the wrong sort of development to have in such areas of natural beauty. Look at the reputation any such monstrositites have elsewhere in the country and the bad that comes with such buildings. So this really needs considering with regards to the impact far and wide in this lovely county.
