Comments	"What a ridiculous planning application. This proposed cathedral to consumerism will stand towering above three small villages and become a landmark challenging Arundel Castle and Cathedral. The road infrastructure cannot cope currently with Church Lane being a small B road and Yapton Road the same. Linking them Horsemere Green Lane is banned for vehicles over 7.5 tons but, guess what, the vehicles consistently use that road. Within spitting distance are residential homes already suffering skip lorries bundling through country lanes at excess speed, noise pollution from factories ignoring regulations, and this can and will only lead to further pollution and immense environmental destruction in an area where several species are in danger of losing habitat further." These are the words of a fellow objector and, as a resident of Climping, I couldn't have put it better! We already suffer noise and pollution from the industrial estate on Church Lane. Suggesting that a monstrous building such as this be built is simply ludicrous. I object in the strongest manner possible.
