Objection

West Sussex and in particular the coastal and historical areas surrounding Ford are of outstanding beauty. Arundel, Middleton On Sea and other local areas attract tourism and the landscape is a thing of beauty. A tower will obliterate the asthetic look and feel of the area. It can't be camouflaged. The size of the facility will mean a significant increase in large lorries transporting waste and our roads are struggling with the current volume of traffic. The roads around ford are not dual carriageway - these are small village and single lane roads. The road infrastructure is not designed for an industrial facility of this scale. So, for both those very clear reasons I strongly object to this application. 1. The road infrastructure surrounding the area will not sustain the increase of waste vehicles generated by the facility of this size and 2. The whole beauty, attraction for tourism and lifestyle of this area will change. Finally, it is not clear exactly what will be processed and the outline if the chimney and therefore what may be emitted as a result of this facility. West Sussex is low pollution and a chimney signifies something being emitted into the atmosphere - I strongly object to the chimney and the risk of either what is currently proposed to be processed and what the facility could at a later date be converted to process.
