Comments	I am objecting to this monstrosity! The roads are NOT suitable for HGVs and during rush hour it will be madness! The construction will cause massive distress to all the current residents, not to mention the pollution from the building and HGVs constantly being in use. The wildlife will suffer dramatically. A new housing estate is apparently going to be built on the airfield and then there's going to be this incinerator, which isn't far off the size of Chernobyl! This is a quiet village, which has been ruined by new housing and now this! It won't just be the construction amd traffic of this that will annoy all the local residents, it will be the constant sound from it when it is built, the smoke which will affect a lot of people for miles around, the smell from burning materials which doesn't just come from the local area. Whoever thought of this clearly doesn't live in the area so they don't really give a toss as to how it will affect anything or anyone
