Comments	This proposed structure is too big for the wide open landscape. The area is mixed agricultural and residential land and this building belongs in a more industrialised setting. The local infrastructure will be ill-equipped to cope with the increased lorries, especially the very small roads that lead to this site. Visually, it will be an eyesore for miles around in this flat, open terrain. There are cities along the coast in either direction that have land far better suited to be adapted for this type of facility.
