Comments	I absolutely OBJECT to this proposed development the road access via both the A259/A27 and Church lane is already clogged due to recent housing developments and this will add Heavy Lorries to the mix every day. Also this is a rural area so it is madness to build an plant that supposedly saves energy by recovering it away from the urban environment where the rubbish is created. If the object is truly to save energy then this plant needs to be as near to the source as possible to minimise journey times. In truth this is just a way of dumping city waste into the countryside in a place and site that does not have adequate transport links but is surrounded by less people to complain about the noise, and environmental impact than if it was proposed to near to them.
