Comments	Not suitable on this site: Local roads are already unable to cope; this site will bring yet another large HGV movement every 10 minutes and that is just the start as these sites always increase capacity over time. The emissions, although 'monitored and controlled' are unacceptable in an otherwise largely unspoiled area. This site is too close to the already struggling tourist resorts on the coast and way too close to the South Downs National Park; it will be a nasty scar in the area. The chimney at some 279 feet high is totally unacceptable for the location, this is not an industrial area on anything like that scale and should not be allowed to become one by attrition. I object to this application.
