Comments	I do not believe that the transport infrastructure can support the additional traffic generated by such a scheme. In addition to the 120 HGV's per day there will also be additional support traffic. It should be noted that there is already planning for significant additional housing within the intermediate vicinity which will generate even more traffic on the currently heavily congested road network. The incineration of waste should never be performed close to housing as the toxic fallout will result in serious heath issues particularly to young children. This is not recycling as promised by a succession of Governments. No No
