Comments	While recognising there is a need for this type of development I cannot believe that something of this size has 'magically' been approved by Planning without seemingly any consideration to the surrounding infrastructure - hundreds of new houses approved that will be in the immediate area and probably the most important factor is access when the access roads , primarily Ford Road, cannot cope with HGV's now! Any development requiring this volume of traffic would require massive investment to ensure access does not destroy the normal lives of people living in the area in terms of their own ability to utilise the local road network - no mention of this from what I can see. Finally what would be the impact to the local community of catalyst filters etc do not control the pollution generated by such a potential eyesore on the landscape.
