Comments	I have only learnt of this application very recently and was very shocked to hear the scale of it. It will outsize everything nearby and the chimney will be a complete eye sore. However my biggest concern is for the traffic this will bring, not only the construction traffic but the additional traffic. We use the Ford road frequently and it is increasingly busy and often jammed when a large vehicle attempts to come though it, causing chaos. The noise is also a factor, we are quite set back from the road but the sound travels up and we hear it and will be further disturbed by extra traffic especially large construction vehicles. The A259 is also already a very busy road so either way traffic using the plant will add to already congested roads. I appreciate these plants are necessary but believe there must be better suited areas to build them.
