Comments	I write to object to WSCC/045/20 My concern is the risk of accidental contamination of ground water and the proven link from the site with ardingly reservoir. The proliferation of new housing estates in mid sussex will mean that demand for potable water will only increase. We have already just had local water shortages in this hottest summer in recent times. If an accident occurred, would/could the polluter pay? Do Angus have enough insurance? Or would a disaster be left to local councils/taxpayers to clean up?
