Comments	Drilling for oil/gas in rural mid Sussex is unnecessary, dangerous and seriously unwanted. It is dangerous to the underground water aquifers in an area riven by geological faults both mapped and unmapped but from which Mid Sussex derives its water supplies. Investment in drilling is speculative and unnecessary. The investment in renewable supplies is much more important than wrecking the countryside in the greedy search for polluting fuel sources. The traffic that will be generated by the exporation and exploitation of the resource will pollute the surrounding quiet villages.
