Comments	I'm astonished that this proposal near my grandchildren's home and school should even be considered again - not only is it compromising environmentally, but we shouldn't be investing in fossil fuel exploration or extraction in any way shape or form - to let a private company put private profit ahead of environment and ultimately water/air health in the area is something I cannot believe will be allowed, and I strongly object to the underhand way in which this totally self-serving project is never yet completely put to bed allowing villagers who have objected in every possible way, and have been backed up by the science, to finally relax and enjoy a family future in the village.
