Dear Sir/Madam

I am objecting to the planning application made by Angus currently under consultation.

It is wrong to develop a polluting industry so close to our village for very little benefit.

The prospect of wells and flares and popping up all over this area is immoral in an area of outstanding natural beauty.

The environment will be hugely affected detrimentally.

HGV traffic trundling through our road systems some of which are not even B roads.

I worry about the potential risk of polluting our water and surrounding geology. Ground water systems are very irregular and I don't think the policing and monitoring of this vital resource is robust enough.

The detriment to the people and the village outweighs any financial argument. The returns don't stack up.

We should be pursuing alternative green energy resources and not persist in the use of fossil fuels.

Yours faithfully

Susan Taylor
