Comments	I understand and appreciate why you wish to build this , however it is just far too big. It's gross! The artist's impression is really misleading. Can you please look into alternative buildings/structures? Think out of the box , quite literally. Be go ahead with your design. Could you in fact build downwards so it's not so horribly high? Ground trampolines were designed to lead the eye over. With some clever design , it could be hidden well! The proposed design would be a crying shame for the area visually and I'm not content with the potential of what would be carried on the prevailing winds to my home and family. I object to the building of this entirely but should it progress I look forward to seeing a wholly different plan. Don't be ruled by costings. People and planet first.
