Comments	I strongly object to the visual pollution, tall chimney stacks with waste gases that are clearly not good for the environment hence the height. There will be increased lorries and fumes in a village not equipped with an infrastructure to deal with this. The noise, pollution and affect on local ecosystems is totally unnecessary with a plant being built in Horsham. With the sheer volume of new houses being built in a village already not coping with floods and increased traffic this will have a very negative impact on the surrounding area. There has already been the destruction of too much green space.
