| Comments | Based on the evidence provided by the parish council, and based on the projection from documentation provided by SAVRI , I object to this being built, based on: - the fact that the horsham facility can cope with the demand - Ford is by no means central to west sussex, so would only result in increased traffic - the potential outfall of ash and other gaseous by-products would affect the local coastline and wildlife, not to mention the impact on graded buildings no extra income would come into the immediate surroundings as a result of extra jobs I fail to see any actual positive to having it coming here, especially since the amount of residential development in the area is already going to cause congestion issues on the roads. This will only serve to exacerbate existing problems on their way. |
