Comments	<input type="text" value="I live in Arundel, a quiet town on the edge of the national park, with uninterrupted views from the town across the coastal plain to the sea. I object to the proposal for the incineration facility because: (a) the construction of such a large building will turn a green and pleasant area into a large-scale industrial zone, dominating the views of residents of Arundel and surrounding area; (b) the large increase of resultant pollution caused both by the incineration facility and the increase in heavy traffic- I moved here because of the relative low pollution in the area; (c) implied large increase in local traffic along a narrow country road which already suffers from long and frequent queues due to the level crossing at Ford railway station; (d) the proposed traffic and pollution increases are not compatible with the local plan for a new housing settlement in the area (e) we should be encouraging people to produce less rubbish, and use the existing incinerators more efficiently, not building more incinerators to add to the existing climate change problems with the increased emissions caused by the proposed facility and the traffic that uses it"/>
