Comments	The size of the incinerator is far beyond any building that should be allowed in this area. It will cause a considerable eye sore to all living around the area and beyond. The impact on the South Downs national park is likely to be considerable. Having 240 extra HGVs is not acceptable for a rural setting where we have residential areas, children and animals. The roads are not suitable and the extra pollution from the vehicles will be extreme. Incineration is not a sustainable or useful way of energy production and is harmful to the environment, it is also a barrier to recycling.
