Comments	I believe the development is in the wrong place due to poor road access to the site, surrounded by residential developments along with proposed planned developments on Ford Air field, with the overall affect the development will have on the surrounding landscape with the 80m tall towers. Concern over toxic release from the site and the affect this and other developments will have on thr area with regards to smells. The site is also close to the edge of the Southtdown National Park which is being encroached by other proposed small developments and the fact smell has no boundaries . Is not the development at Horsham for a similar site not a better place as it does have better road access? Many thanks for taking the time to read this
