Comments	I object to this incinerator on environmental grounds, transport issues and the number of houses being built thru this southern belt of West Sussex. The Number of cars and service vehicles and the huge lorries that will ferry waste to this unit will swamp the countryside. I also object to the number of houses being built, how will schools, surgeries, roads, shops cope without another large increase in construction and traffic. Whois controlling the developments currently taking place. Finally of course, many of the houses are poor design, I doubt if an Architect has been anywhere near them, all developers do is maximise the number of units per acre. You have no control.
