Comments	Littlehampton was pushing for more "tourist" income, especially important following Brexit. This would put people off as it would be visible from the end of the river Arun. People visiting will also have their eye drawn to this eather then the Arundel Cathedral and Castle. Additionally the air quality will suffer and there is a really dense area for young football teams and fitness. There is no reason this could not be pushed further inland and away from the coast I am aware of, say the other side of the downs.
