Comments	I understand the value of such an incinerator but I do not believe this would be the right place for such. I object on the following reasons: It would be a huge blot on the local landscape, the road infrastructure around the area is already grossly overloaded with huge heavy vehicles not including the extra traffic due to the new houses being built, environmentally it produces more pollutants at all levels the fallout of which would affect the local populace, houses, schools etc. I am not a fan of disposable items and feel we should spend more on re-cycling where re-use isn't possible.
