Type of Comment	Objection
Comments	An already busy road which will be worsened by housing development. But, accepting that we need new homes and we also need to consider the environment and air pollution, how would an incinerator fit in with both national and worldwide need to improve air quality? We need to look at safer and more environmentally friendly ways of recycling, not incineration. This project is bad for people's health, for the local community and for climate change. What are the positives?? As a nurse and a mother, I am appalled at this idea. Please, please think of safer, kinder, more environmentally friendly alternatives to waste.
