Comments	I believe that with proper recycling, incineration would not be necessary. Of course, I don't know exactly what it is that is proposed to be incinerated. I have heard that it is commercial waste, brought onto the site by lorry, and that there would be 240 lorries per day. On our already overcrowded roads, I should think that might bring about grid lock ! The proposed site is currently used for car boot sales and the legendary Ford Market,famed far and wide. People come from far and wide to peruse,bargain,haggle and buy. They also partake of refresh.ent with food and drink. Many people make theiriving from the boot sales and market. It would be a terrible loss to the area. The incinerator is very unpopular,but most people are unaware of the possible impending doom. I wholeheartey hope that WSCC will see fit not to permit this horrendous polluting monster to be built here.
