Comments	The noise & pollution will cover 27 acres and pour out fumes everywhere. It will be an eyesore for the south down national park. The money should be spent on increasing recycling not burning rubbish. The emissions will include dioxins, NO2 and ultra fine particle matter harmful to humans & the environment. The surrounding road infrastructure couldn't cope with an increase in traffic and heavy vehicles taking rubbish to the incinerator. It will be harmful to plants, animals & human life. And finally, seriously in this day and age, is this the best response we can come up with to the rubbish problem? We HAVE to do better than this. Think of the Earth you walk on and all life. None of this benefits from pouring pollution into the atmosphere. Consider a greener response. Increase recycling.
