Comments	I have very bad hayfever allergy and find it difficult to breathe without the incinerator. The added pollution the incinerator will make it more difficult for me to breathe. I have allergies too and these will become worse. The size of the towers will be unsightly, be like living on an industrial park and will lower my house value. I have an interest only mortgage so this will be disastrous for me. I live in an old cottage, built in 1780, it does not have double glazing so the noise will keep me awake at night. I suffer from depression and need a full night's sleep to function. I left my home town in Scotland as BP oil refinery operated there. So I know how bad air and noise pollution can be. To get round regulations, BP simply used their incinerators at night so that local residents could not see the disgusting smoke in the air. My health as a child was bad and my parents both died if cancer when young. I moved to Horsham to increase my life expectancy but this incinerator and it's emissions will deny me that.
