Type of Comment	Objection
Comments	The ability for Ford Road to accommodate the level of new transport movements created by the new operations from this development will bring this road to a standstill. The road already has pinch points from;The approach towards the Arundel roundabout - where normal cars cannot pass as resident vehicles create a single lane with a blind spot; The level crossing which at certain times create long back logs of vehicles; Lorries will create an impasse for both residents and public transport in either direction - currently lorries are discouraged to use this road but are ignoring this - why legitimise worse abuse of a narrow residential road. Although the need for such a facility is essential - the road infrastructure is not being provided (and cannot be achieved anyway.
