| Comments                      | We should be finding solutions to recycling that are environmentally friendly. We should not be contributing towards CO2 emissions. In addition, adding this horrific building so close to our natural beauty of the South Downs would impact local wildlife, the beauty of the area that attracts tourists to the region, and has so much other scientific interest. We cannot already keep on top of basic road maintenance int he area. How can you expect to be able to handle local road destruction which will happen with the increase of heavy duty lorries. We don't need this here in the Arun Valley. There are alternative solutions. |
