Objection

I have walked these woods all my life ,50 years! My grandmother grew up in Brickkilns (no longer a house) in these woods. It is one of the only places that I thought would never be developed in my lifetime, because of where it is , in a remote woodland on the fringe of Loxwood village and small rural roads. It seems that this application would completely ruin all of this. The roads would suffer greatly with the 45 lorries a day, as for the destruction of wildlife habitats and destruction of trees some of which were only planted in recent years ,probably under a tree planting government grant . I feel the need for local clay for bricks could be met from other local brick yards so no need to create a new one . I'm all for recycling as much as we can of everything but why at the expense of disrupting all humans and wildlife at this site ? It would be far better placed if it was off of a main road not miles down rural lanes . It would completely change the character of this beautiful area industrialising it , maybe even leading the way for other for other distucive deveopments . Therefore I outright object to this application
