Comments	<input type="text" value="This application represents environmental vandalism with loss of habitat, trees and hedgerow at a time when we have a climate emergency and the IPCC has today issued a code red for humanity. It will have a detrimental effect to the water table and concerns have already been raised on this with high levels of house building in this area. Road safety is a major issue with any increase of HGV traffic along narrow country lanes and through small villages and it is clearly not a suitable location for a clay extraction and waste recycling site. We do not feel it brings any benefit to the local community and on all these points we strongly oppose this application."/>
