Comments	This operation will not bring anything beneficial to the local community. It is a destructive plan on many counts. Predominantly the disruption the increased HGV traffic will cause to the local population making the roads unsafe for all users. These beautiful country roads where not made to take these large, polluting vehicles. Why rip apart this beautiful historic woodland that provides homes to many species of wildlife, a peaceful tranquil place to walk. With climate change very much in the headlines and all the concerns it brings it would be criminal to unnecessarily destroy this environment which will increase the net carbon emissions.

There is no demand for clay within West Sussex therefore no need to extract it.
