Comments	Hello, I have been living behind these woods for many years. Since I was 14, I am now 24 and I am so unbelievably sad about the current plan that seems to be going through to turn a portion of these woods into clay pits. I am objecting today on behalf of the wildlife in those woods. Please find attached an image I took in July of last year (21/07/2020)... After seeing people coming in and out an awful lot during this time, hanging up sound devices and placing these square mattes around what I can only assume is the proposed travel routes. I peeked under to find slow worms, a protected species. I would have thought this has been brought to your attention already, or at least, I hope it has been. Not to mention the countless species of wildlife that is clearly flourishing in these precious woods. You don't have to look hard or far, it is just everywhere, nested into the trees, bushes, ground and streams. What a shame this is going through. I sincerely hope, with all of my heart, that this is rejected, for the sake of the precious wildlife and the natural beauty that remains there. I'd hate to see a business ruin these special lands, just to make money. There must be more suitable places in the UK. Thank you for reading. Best wishes, Finbar.
