Comments	I am disabled, and I drive regularly with the Happy Landings Carriage Driving Group which is associated with Riding for the Disabled. It is based at Tismans, and we use the surrounding roads, including Loxwood Road, for our weekly drives. More heavy traffic would make our driving much more difficult and probably too dangerous. This is an activity which is open to severely disabled people, as they can travel in the carriages in their wheelchairs. At the moment we drivers feel safe in the roads around Tismans; the prospect of meeting heavy lorries every time we go out could well put an end to our weekly drives. This would affect not only the disabled drivers and their families but also the many volunteers who coach the drivers, look after the ponies, maintain the carriages, and provide fun and companionship for those whose lives are limited by their conditions. I object strongly to this planning application.
