| Comments | I cannot see a valid reason for the decimation of animal habitation, flora and fauna, by placing an industrial site in the middle of untouched and scenic Surrey and Sussex countryside. Not only will the developed area be an eyesore but it will have an impact very much wider than the immediate surroundings. I am also extremely concerned by the impact on road conditions and the safety to cyclists and pedestrians that frequently use Loxwood Road. The road surface is clearly not going to stand up to frequent heavy traffic as proposed and will need constant maintenance. This road is mainly used by light traffic at present. My other serious safety concern is the exit from Loxwood Road of HGV's at uncontrolled junctions either on to the extremely busy A281 or the B2133 in Loxwood itself. Any slow moving vehicle entering the A281 will be a hazard. The A281 does not have a good safety record on the section near Rudgwick, with a number of fatalities in recent years. |
