Comments	The business case is flawed - there is insufficient justification for the environmental disruption including carbon emissions. Considering the reported clay reserves this development contradicts the Paris Agreement decarbonisation targets. The business case would mean a net carbon increase alongside other very considerable safety, health, ecological and noise impacts. It is not sensitive to the local environment and provides no benefit to residents impacted. It has a negative impact on areas where residents have a right of access including significant safety concerns for those who use the area regularly. Also health concerns from increased HGV traffic pollution.
