This will destroy several natural habitats for wildlife and disturb surrounding habitats which are spared. This will destroy several ancient woodlands. Several people use the site for walking, horse riding and cycling etc. The HGV's will be causing astronomical disruption to the local community. The local roads are not equipped to be taking that many HGV's and will therefore be left severely damaged increasing the risk of accidents. The local roads are used for recreation such as walking, horse riding and cyclists which will be put at an increased rate of danger. The clay pits may be used for disposal of harmful wastes such as asbestos. The clay pits will have no positive affect on the local community whatsoever. Clay is not in crucial or high demand and there is no shortage and therefore not important. The additional pollution will affect the local residents, wildlife and vegetation. Loxwood is one of few quiet villages left in West Sussex, it is important we keep villages and towns traditional and nice places to live. Several tractors use the local roads as there is lots of farmland, tractors and HGV'S would not physically be able to pass down the majority of the roads, Loxwood the main road onto the site being one of them. Mankinds biggest threat is ourselves and the main reason for that is the destruction of wilderness.
